From festival to high street

At the RHS Hampton Court Palace Festival last year, we showcased how a parking bay can be transformed into a green community space incorporating seating, tables, planting and games.

After the festival, we moved it to Walton-on-Thames high street and reworked it into a linear run of street furniture and custom planters.

These adaptations make parklets a flexible option for hospitality and community spaces, driving higher footfall and interaction.
